

enriching scholarship

integrating teaching, information & technology

an introduction to resources at the University of Michigan

The Teaching & Technology Collaborative

invites faculty to

May 10-14, 1999

a week-long series of
free seminars,
workshops, open houses, and demonstrations on the use of technology in teaching and learning.

collaborative learning

library resources

web technologies

graphics tools

discipline specific resources

curriculum integration issues

For more information please contact Susan Hollar at 936.2371 or email teachttec@umich.edu

For online information and registration <http://www.umich.edu/~teachttec/>

Priority seating for faculty.
Others accommodated as space allows.

the program

May 10-14, 1999

Opening Events:

“Two Sides of the Technology Coin: Perspectives on Enhancing Student Learning and Supporting faculty”

Speakers: Barbara O’Keefe (Director of the Media Union) and James Hilton (Thurnau Professor of Psychology, LS&A)

Monday May 10 • 8:30 -10:30am

Video Studio, Media Union, North Campus (refreshments served)

---

“Technology in Action: A Gallery of Faculty Projects”

Monday May 10 • 10:30 -12:00

Media Union Atrium, North Campus (refreshments served)

enriching scholarship

integrating teaching, information & technology

Computer Basics
Scanning Text and Images Photoshop
PowerPoint Presentations
Grant Writing
Searching the Internet
Web Design
Web Development Tools
Audio and Video for the Web
Web Security
Web Conferencing
Course Web Pages
Filemaker to Web Databases

Topics for Integrating Technology into Teaching & Learning

Javascript
Using E-mail Attachments Discipline Specific Digital Resources
Video Production
Distance Education Tools
Collaborative Writing
Managing Bibliographies Multimedia Authoring Packages
Assessing Student Learning
CD Writing

---

susan hollar • 209 hatcher north • 1205

CAMPUS
MAIL